

HER BODY CUT IN TWO.

Horrible Discovery on the Long Island Railroad at Maspeth.

Lizzie Beiler Was Murdered and Laid on the Track.

The body of a young woman, cut diagonally in two, was found early this morning on the Long Island Railroad at Maspeth, about one hundred yards from the city line in Queens county. One-half the body was lying on either side of the track.

At first the girl was thought to have committed suicide, or to have been accidentally killed, but circumstances have come to light which would seem to indicate that a horrible murder had been committed.

It may prove another mystery for Coroner Brandon and the authorities of Queens county to solve. Within the past two years half a dozen women have been assaulted in the same neighborhood and the assailant never captured.

At Maspeth, which is only two miles from Maspeth, Hannah Robinson, a young girl, was assaulted and then carried to death last fall, but the guilty one was never brought to justice.

This is the story of this morning's horrible discovery, as gathered by THE EVENING WORLD.

HOW THE BODY WAS FOUND.

Adam Krumholz, a resident in the neighborhood, at 415 East 14th street, Maspeth, Ely, of the Flatbush Avenue crossing of the Long Island Railroad, saw the remains of a woman were on the track near his station.

Krumholz saw the body in the morning, and the body was found on the track near his station.

A man was sent up the track and the engine was stopped at a point where the severed body was lying in front of the locomotive.

It lay half way between the Flatbush Avenue and Fresh Pond crossings. In a deep cut where the single track from Flatbush meets the main double tracks from Long Island City.

The crowd which had collected immediately recognized the remains as those of Miss Lizzie Beiler, thirteen years of age, who lived with her parents less than 200 yards away from where her mangled body was found.

"My God, it's Lizzie Beiler!" said one, and the words were no sooner out than another repeated:

"Here's her poor little girl. Hide the body!"

The old man, seeing the crowd on his way to work, was about to stop, but was gotten past the spot by his friends, who told him a calf had been run over.

Coroner Brandon was notified and the body was removed to the side of the railway and covered.

DECLARER SHE WAS MURDERED.

Meanwhile the father, who works as a laborer in Maspeth, had continued on his way to work, but in a short time the parents of the girl were notified.

It is said that a girl, on hearing that her child had been killed, said:

"No, by — she's been murdered, not killed!"

Beiler, however, denies that she made any such remark. His daughter was a universal favorite, and more than usually pretty for her station in life. She had many admirers, some of Maspeth's best young men.

For four years she has been with the family of J. M. Snyder, at 1152 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn. She was to accompany them to the country soon, and went home yesterday to visit her parents.

She left home shortly after 10 o'clock last night to return to Brooklyn, and one theory is that it was the train which left Flatbush at 10:25 that struck her.

So far the police are at sea. The girl was a general favorite and never seemed to care for one beau in preference to another. She had no trouble with any one, and her character was above reproach.

The general opinion is that she was assaulted and killed, her body being afterwards placed on the track.

Those who believe she was accidentally killed argue that the girl was going to Flatbush to make a delivery to a customer, and that she had no reason to cross the railroad track, about three minutes' walk from her father's house. She left the house at 10:25, and at 10:29, or about the time she would have reached the crossing, a freight train backing out from Flatbush passed that point.

Her friends absolutely refuse to believe that she committed suicide, and said that she was too careful a girl to be run over.

Of late a huge negro has started women in the neighborhood and he is supposed to have been the assailant and murderer of Hannah Robinson last fall.

Lizzie Beiler may have been his latest victim.

The Sixth Precinct police have cleared the neighborhood of traps, and say this morning that the district was infested with them.

MEN UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

To an EVENING WORLD reporter Coroner Brandon expressed himself as of the opinion that it is a case of murder. An inquest will be held next Wednesday evening.

The police have several men under surveillance, but no arrests have as yet been made. The neighborhood of the tragedy has been secured, but no murderous weapon of any kind has been found.

The body is now at her parents' home.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES.

Late this afternoon it was reported that Dr. Combs and Judson had made an autopsy and discovered that the girl was to become a mother.

It was also discovered that her skull had been fractured by a blow with a blunt instrument.

To an EVENING WORLD reporter Dr. Judson said that she had been struck two blows on the head and was undoubtedly killed before being placed on the track.

No New Trial for Boy-Murderer Fales.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

NEWARK, N. J., July 2.—Judge Deane today denied a motion for a new trial for Robert Fales, the boy-murderer, on the ground that newly discovered evidence of his insanity did not entitle him to a new trial.

The alleged fact that one of the jury who convicted him was incompetent to serve.

Pawnee His Father's Clothes.

Patsy Flynn, a seventeen-year-old boy, was held for trial today in Yorkville court, charged with stealing and pawning two suits of clothes belonging to his father, and attempting to draw a loaded pistol on the policeman who arrested him.

FROM CONVENT TO STAGE.

Pretty Maggie Carmady Prefers the Coney Island Footlights.

Her Father Says He Would Rather See Her Dead.

From a convent to the stage of a Coney Island concert hall is a long step, but pretty sixteen-year-old Maggie Carmady took it.

Her father, William H. Carmady, of 160 Fulton street, found her last night doing her turn at the London Gaiety concert hall, with rouge on her fresh young cheeks, which needed no artificial aid to bring out the roses in them, and an abbreviated gown, which displayed her well developed figure to the best advantage.

Four years ago the girl's parents separated and Maggie, who even at the age of twelve was inclined to be wayward, was placed in a Reeksville convent.

It is said that Maggie ran away from the convent and made her way to Brooklyn. Her father then put her in St. Paul's Convent, Brooklyn, but six months ago she escaped from there and disappeared for a while.

Three weeks ago she called on her aunt, Mrs. Maria Johnson, of 188 Second street. She was stylishly dressed, and when questioned as to her manner of living, said she worked in a bakery and did housework for the proprietor's wife.

At Maspeth, where she only two miles from Maspeth, Hannah Robinson, a young girl, was assaulted and then carried to death last fall, but the guilty one was never brought to justice.

This is the story of this morning's horrible discovery, as gathered by THE EVENING WORLD.

HOW THE BODY WAS FOUND.

Adam Krumholz, a resident in the neighborhood, at 415 East 14th street, Maspeth, Ely, of the Flatbush Avenue crossing of the Long Island Railroad, saw the remains of a woman were on the track near his station.

Krumholz saw the body in the morning, and the body was found on the track near his station.

A man was sent up the track and the engine was stopped at a point where the severed body was lying in front of the locomotive.

It lay half way between the Flatbush Avenue and Fresh Pond crossings. In a deep cut where the single track from Flatbush meets the main double tracks from Long Island City.

The crowd which had collected immediately recognized the remains as those of Miss Lizzie Beiler, thirteen years of age, who lived with her parents less than 200 yards away from where her mangled body was found.

"My God, it's Lizzie Beiler!" said one, and the words were no sooner out than another repeated:

"Here's her poor little girl. Hide the body!"

The old man, seeing the crowd on his way to work, was about to stop, but was gotten past the spot by his friends, who told him a calf had been run over.

Coroner Brandon was notified and the body was removed to the side of the railway and covered.

DECLARER SHE WAS MURDERED.

Meanwhile the father, who works as a laborer in Maspeth, had continued on his way to work, but in a short time the parents of the girl were notified.

It is said that a girl, on hearing that her child had been killed, said:

"No, by — she's been murdered, not killed!"

Beiler, however, denies that she made any such remark. His daughter was a universal favorite, and more than usually pretty for her station in life. She had many admirers, some of Maspeth's best young men.

For four years she has been with the family of J. M. Snyder, at 1152 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn. She was to accompany them to the country soon, and went home yesterday to visit her parents.

She left home shortly after 10 o'clock last night to return to Brooklyn, and one theory is that it was the train which left Flatbush at 10:25 that struck her.

So far the police are at sea. The girl was a general favorite and never seemed to care for one beau in preference to another. She had no trouble with any one, and her character was above reproach.

The general opinion is that she was assaulted and killed, her body being afterwards placed on the track.

Those who believe she was accidentally killed argue that the girl was going to Flatbush to make a delivery to a customer, and that she had no reason to cross the railroad track, about three minutes' walk from her father's house. She left the house at 10:25, and at 10:29, or about the time she would have reached the crossing, a freight train backing out from Flatbush passed that point.

Her friends absolutely refuse to believe that she committed suicide, and said that she was too careful a girl to be run over.

Of late a huge negro has started women in the neighborhood and he is supposed to have been the assailant and murderer of Hannah Robinson last fall.

Lizzie Beiler may have been his latest victim.

The Sixth Precinct police have cleared the neighborhood of traps, and say this morning that the district was infested with them.

MEN UNDER SURVEILLANCE.

To an EVENING WORLD reporter Coroner Brandon expressed himself as of the opinion that it is a case of murder. An inquest will be held next Wednesday evening.

The police have several men under surveillance, but no arrests have as yet been made. The neighborhood of the tragedy has been secured, but no murderous weapon of any kind has been found.

The body is now at her parents' home.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES.

Late this afternoon it was reported that Dr. Combs and Judson had made an autopsy and discovered that the girl was to become a mother.

It was also discovered that her skull had been fractured by a blow with a blunt instrument.

To an EVENING WORLD reporter Dr. Judson said that she had been struck two blows on the head and was undoubtedly killed before being placed on the track.

No New Trial for Boy-Murderer Fales.

SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.

NEWARK, N. J., July 2.—Judge Deane today denied a motion for a new trial for Robert Fales, the boy-murderer, on the ground that newly discovered evidence of his insanity did not entitle him to a new trial.

The alleged fact that one of the jury who convicted him was incompetent to serve.

Pawnee His Father's Clothes.

Patsy Flynn, a seventeen-year-old boy, was held for trial today in Yorkville court, charged with stealing and pawning two suits of clothes belonging to his father, and attempting to draw a loaded pistol on the policeman who arrested him.

T.V. POWDERLY FOR CHAIRMAN.

Probable Choice of the Third Party Convention at Omaha.

It is Said a Big Stewart Boom Will Be Sprung To-Morrow.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

OMAHA, July 2.—Already there is considerable speculation as to who will be Permanent Chairman of the People's Party Convention, and by general consent that honor seems likely to be accorded to T. V. Powderly, General Master Workman of the Knights of Labor.

Mr. Powderly will not arrive in the city until to-morrow morning, and the selection of Permanent Chairman will not be made till to-morrow afternoon or evening by the convention on Permanent organization, but the leaders are nearly unanimous in expressing preference for Mr. Powderly.

The announcement of A. J. Streeter, of Illinois, that he did not believe Judge Greaham would accept the Presidential nomination, and that in the event of his refusal he was in favor of United States Senator Stewart, has caused the Stewart boom to receive quite an impetus.

It is becoming very evident that the delegates from the Silver States of the West will give Senator Stewart very earnest support, and in the event of Greaham being stricken from the list, Stewart will be the leading candidate.

The drift of sentiment at this time is in favor of Weaver as between two, but there are careful preparations being made to spring a formidable Stewart boom on Sunday.

W. Lee Randall, of Washington, one of the leaders of the Silver movement in the city, and appears to have charge of Senator Stewart's canvass. He announces that he has a long conversation with the Nevada Senator, and that there is no doubt of his willingness to accept nomination and make the campaign on the people's party platform.

The convention decides to select him as the nominee of the party, and it is his duty to this city to make the nomination of Stewart, and when this fact came to public knowledge last night it created a great deal of discussion, as it was at once accepted as an evidence that the powerful silver league had decided upon Mr. Stewart as the Presidential candidate of the People's party, it could exert the influence necessary to control the convention.

There is, however, a slight disposition on the part of the delegates from the great South as well as on the part of the Knights of Labor and the various industrial organizations of the East to resist this attempt of the silver league to assume charge so soon of the destinies of the People's party.

They point to the fact that at the National conventions of both the Democratic and Republican parties the same league appeared on the ground and practically secured control of these parties of its support in case it would incorporate a free coinage plank in its platform.

These dissenting delegates contend that there is more in the People's party than the silver question, and that while it is perhaps one of the greatest importance, there are other issues which must be taken into account, and that the destinies of the People's party cannot be made entirely subservient to the silver question.

The National Committee of the People's party met last night and selected C. H. Johnson, of Georgia, as the temporary chairman of the convention, and John W. Hayes, General Secretary of the Knights of Labor, as Secretary. Also elected Dr. J. M. Terrell, of Texas, should on behalf of the convention make the response to the address of welcome to the Mayor of Omaha.

It was decided that addresses in memory of President Lincoln should be read, and the convention met today shortly after 10 o'clock and adjourned temporarily according to program.

Greaham Again Says No.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 2.—The Vice President sent Judge Greaham the following despatch:

"Will you say something for publication in the Indianapolis News? Will you accept a nomination from the Omaha Convention if tendered?"

In reply the Vice President received this: "I would not accept on any platform."

—W. C. GREENMAN.

NO BUSINESS IN STOCKS.

Weekly Bank Statement Shows $1,785,450 Loss in Reserve.

WALL STREET, Saturday, July 2.—All the downtown exchanges were closed today, but the banks were open as usual until noon. There was very little business doing.

Selling exchange was strong at about yesterday's figures.

The steamship La Gasconne took out $200,000 gold coin and $1,000 Mexican dollars.

The resignation of J. Pierpont Morgan from the directory of the Central Trust Company is announced.

The bank statement showed a loss in reserve of $1,785,450. The items show a contraction of $1,785,450. A loss in specie of $1,785,450, an increase in legal tenders of $1,785,450 and a reduction in deposit liabilities of $1,785,450.

Following are the comparative figures:

	July 25.	July 26.	Change.
Loans	$2,200,000	$2,200,000	$0
Specie	$1,785,450	$1,785,450	$0
Legal tenders	$1,785,450	$1,785,450	$0
Deposits	$1,785,450	$1,785,450	$0
Reserve	$1,785,450	$1,785,450	$0

ELOPED FROM STATEN ISLAND.

Pretty Ma Burns Runs Away with George Clarke White.

At the Hotel Bristol are Mr. and Mrs. George Clarke White, of Staten Island, who have run away from home and got married.

Ada Elizabeth Burns, a pretty brunette, lived with her mother at Stapleton last fall, when she disappeared. George Clarke White, of Bard Avenue, Livingston, disappeared at the same time. They respectively families worried about it till they received copies of a notice which said that they had been married Tuesday night by Rev. J. C. Milligan at 200 Manhattan Avenue.

The mother of the bride said this morning that she knew her daughter was engaged to George White, and she was well to do, objected to the match. Hence the elopement.

Fell from the Fourth-Story Window.

Four-year-old William Martin this morning fell from the fourth-story window of his home, 228 East Seventy-fourth street, and had his skull fractured. He was taken to Presbyterian Hospital.

Mantell Must Pay.

The Actor's Wife Proceeds at Last to Collect Her Alimony.

Laymen Hulse and Hummel have taken proceedings against Robert Bruce Mantell, the handsome actor, to compel him to pay his wife, Marie Sheldon, as she is known on the stage, $75 a week alimony, in accordance with the contract he made with her after her suit for divorce was granted.

Mrs. Mantell says her husband is still living in his customary luxurious style, but that for three years he has refused to pay her the stipulated allowance. Unless he makes good this amount and continues the payments, she declares, she will force him to do so by legal process.

Fell from the Fourth-Story Window.

Four-year-old William Martin this morning fell from the fourth-story window of his home, 228 East Seventy-fourth street, and had his skull fractured. He was taken to Presbyterian Hospital.

Mantell Must Pay.

The Actor's Wife Proceeds at Last to Collect Her Alimony.

Laymen Hulse and Hummel have taken proceedings against Robert Bruce Mantell, the handsome actor, to compel him to pay his wife, Marie Sheldon, as she is known on the stage, $75 a week alimony, in accordance with the contract he made with her after her suit for divorce was granted.

Mrs. Mantell says her husband is still living in his customary luxurious style, but that for three years he has refused to pay her the stipulated allowance. Unless he makes good this amount and continues the payments, she declares, she will force him to do so by legal process.

Fell from the Fourth-Story Window.

Four-year-old William Martin this morning fell from the fourth-story window of his home, 228 East Seventy-fourth street, and had his skull fractured. He was taken to Presbyterian Hospital.

Mantell Must Pay.

The Actor's Wife Proceeds at Last to Collect Her Alimony.

Laymen Hulse and Hummel have taken proceedings against Robert Bruce Mantell, the handsome actor, to compel him to pay his wife, Marie Sheldon, as she is known on the stage, $75 a week alimony, in accordance with the contract he made with her after her suit for divorce was granted.

Mrs. Mantell says her husband is still living in his customary luxurious style, but that for three years he has refused to pay her the stipulated allowance. Unless he makes good this amount and continues the payments, she declares, she will force him to do so by legal process.

Fell from the Fourth-Story Window.

Four-year-old William Martin this morning fell from the fourth-story window of his home, 228 East Seventy-fourth street, and had his skull fractured. He was taken to Presbyterian Hospital.

Mantell Must Pay.

The Actor's Wife Proceeds at Last to Collect Her Alimony.

Laymen Hulse and Hummel have taken proceedings against Robert Bruce Mantell, the handsome actor, to compel him to pay his wife, Marie Sheldon, as she is known on the stage, $75 a week alimony, in accordance with the contract he made with her after her suit for divorce was granted.

Mrs. Mantell says her husband is still living in his customary luxurious style, but that for three years he has refused to pay her the stipulated allowance. Unless he makes good this amount and continues the payments, she declares, she will force him to do so by legal process.

BROOKLYN NEWS IN BRIEF.

Notable Occurrences in the City of Churches.

Paragraphs that Photograph the History of the Day.

Owns that He Stole Jewelry.

David Linsick, seventeen years old, of 633 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, was arrested at 1:30 o'clock this morning on complaint of Louis Lubinski, a jeweler, of the same address, who charged with stealing $145 worth of gold jewelry during the past month. The prisoner said he had pawned the goods in New York City.

Upset and Hurt.

John O'Connell, of 143 Fulton street, Brooklyn, in St. Mary's Hospital today, with injuries caused by being thrown out of a wagon last evening. He was driving along Fulton street with his sister and the horse ran into a pile of dirt. The couple were thrown from the pavement, but Mrs. O'Connell escaped unhurt.

To Notify Hagan's Sister.

A despatch was received in Brooklyn this morning from West Bridgewater, Pa., stating that B. E. Hagan had been killed. He is supposed to have a sister in Brooklyn who teaches school.

Begin Celebrating in Brooklyn.

All the Brooklyn city departments were closed today, and will remain closed until Tuesday, July 5, pursuant to the resolution passed by the Aldermen at their last meeting.

BIG TROLLEY LINE COMBINE.

Three Annexed District Railroad Companies Consolidated.

A special meeting was held this morning of the stockholders of the Harlem Bridge, Morris and Fordham Railroad Company, the New York and Westchester Railroad Company and the North Third Avenue and Flatbush Park Railroad Company.

By a formal vote it was decided to consolidate the three companies.

The new organization will be known as the Union Railroad Company, and will be operated under the trolley system.

The bill authorizing the consolidation and the use of the trolley system was passed by the present Legislature.

Directors and officers of the new company will be elected next week.

ONE WOE AFTER ANOTHER.

One Boy Dead, Another Run Over—Sneak Thieves' Harvest.

The one hundred street police today reported a remarkable number of accidents.

A ten-year-old boy, who was run over by a car on Eighth Avenue, near one hundred and fourth street, and had his right leg broken.

While he lay bleeding in the street a doctor and a nurse from the Cancer Hospital came to his aid. A lady from the hospital brought him to the hospital.

The whole neighborhood showed its sympathy, some poor people in the shanties near by clearing their tables of dishes to bring the tablecloths for the little fellow.

An ambulance was summoned, but when it came it found a dying boy from a house in Amsterdam street.

The woman newsboy could not be taken in, but the other boy died while the ambulance was en route to the hospital.

Meanwhile sneak thieves robbed three of the neighboring houses and flats.

LAWYERS COME TO BLOWS.

Messrs. Newberger and Sink Fight Two Rounds in the Court-House.

Blood was spilled in the clerk's office of the Superior Court just before noon today, and two lawyers will wear bruised faces for several days.

The principals in the bloody battle of two lawyers were Messrs. Newberger and Sink.

The two pushed at each other, Sink landing a vicious blow on the chin.

Sink made a straight-arm lunge at Newberger, who was dodged, and the men circled and wrestled for a few seconds.

The two were separated by a police officer, but the fight continued.

The principals renewed the quarrel and Newberger landed a blow on Sink's head.

Sink left the room, each vowing vengeance.

HENRY CLERGET IN TROUBLE.

Notoriety Because of His Brother's Murder Costs Him His Place.

The troubles of Henry Clerget, the brother of Max Clerget, who was shot down in the General Sessions Court by Eddie Deulin last Monday, find fast upon each other here.

Today he was dismissed from his employment because of the notoriety which this misfortune has given him.

Clerget is a well educated young Frenchman, speaking English, Spanish and Italian.

He was employed for years as an interpreter at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He left that place to accept a position at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.

He was later employed at the Hotel de Ville, and was later employed at the Hotel de Ville.